

Happy New Year 2010

Gallery Goals

Don't you just love flipping that calendar to the New Year? It's exciting to think about the possibilities for the coming year. I have a list of goals as long as my arm to make this a better year—starting with clearing off my desk, organizing my closets (tossing those 1980's pant suits), exercising more, taking a long-overdue vacation and bringing you the best art I can find in our region throughout the year.

Our #1 Goal is to keep collections fresh, relevant, and diverse without losing focus. We think that 2010 will be a year we exceed your expectations and mine!

To start-off the New Year right, we just received fresh off-the-easel collections by Katherine McNeill, Marlene Kort and Laura Reilly and more new work is on its way. We are also delighted to announce the addition of beautiful Raku and fiber vessels. Because this work is so fantastic and unique, we predict that the creators—husband and wife team Marc Jenesel and Karen Pierce—will be invited to exhibit at the Smithsonian in 2010.

Many of our artists are setting goals to exceed your expectations. As we flip through the calendar in 2010, we hope you achieve your personal goals and include buying original artwork for your home and office. Make this the year you add Colorado art to your collection or buy your very first painting or blown glass—or add something unique to your collection like clay and fiber art.

Whatever your goals, all of us at Hunter-Wolff Gallery wish you the very best New Year and many blessings!

Who's Who — A Perfect Union

Meet Karen Pierce and Marc Jenesel the second husband and wife team in the gallery. Karen is an expert weaver and fiber artist and Marc is a scientist, illustrator and graphic designer with a passion for ceramics. Together they create work that starts with Marc's raku pottery and ends with intricately woven materials by Karen. There is no mistake about it, they are the perfect union.

January – GARNET

This Birthstone has been the gem of faith and truth of centuries with the power to make deep and lasting friendships.

Commonly thought of as a dark red stone, it is actually a large family of gems occurring in every color EXCEPT blue.

Brilliant, colorful, durable.

Calling for Sponsorship!

Plans are underway to bring Old Colorado City a year of great ArtWalks.

The push is on to find supporters, volunteers and sponsors. We can't implement plans until we secure Sponsors to help with funding needs. Contact us to help with this wonderful cultural event in 2010 by calling 719-520-9494.

Ask Kelli . . .

Q: Can I sign up for a Saturday art class?

A: Yes, the gallery just started offering classes on Saturday afternoons, 12-3 pm, in January. You only need a few supplies and to register ahead of time.

Q: I have some amethyst stones. Can your designers use my stones to make earrings?

A: Yes, just bring them to the gallery and together we will work out your design. We have had great success in meeting customer requests for custom work.

Shaking Off Cabin Fever

If you live in an area where winter comes before fall, by January you're looking to shake off "cabin-fever". We keep our doors open year-round and invite you to enjoy some beautiful original art while sipping hot cider when you bring the family. It's a great change from video games, HDTV, and cleaning out closets.

You might even suggest to your club members that they plan something different by scheduling a private art show with demonstrations and the opportunity to meet a few artists! We will take the pain out of the planning and guarantee your group will enjoy their time with us. You pick the date and we will do the rest ... and it's absolutely free.

Call for a reservation and bring your group on the scheduled date, sit back and enjoy! Your event will be tailored to your group's interests and scheduled around your time.

Don't let "cabin fever" get you down. You don't need a reservation to get out of the house to visit with your family and friends and enjoy a great afternoon relaxing and learning. You might even discover something beautiful you had no idea about. However, for a scheduled demonstration or private show, call ahead.

Pick up the phone and call. Learning about art should be fun and our featured artists are pleased to talk to you and your group and demonstrate what they do best. Call 719-520-9494 and learn what we can do to create a morning or afternoon that is special for your group.

Exceeding Expectation

★ Congratulations Sam and Eileen, from Denver, for selecting not one but three original oil paintings by Katherine McNeill for their home. Sam and Eileen have two beautiful little boys who also approved of the new Katherine McNeill oil paintings now hanging in their living room.

Eileen told us she was delighted (maybe a little surprised) that we delivered to their home and Katherine made some final touches to include specific colors complimenting other art pieces. Eileen and Sam wanted to add some subtle blue and more yellow and Katherine added these colors to each painting. In less than hour, mission accomplished and Sam and Eileen are now enjoying their new paintings.

We especially enjoyed working with Sam and Eileen. It was exciting to see how this original artwork brightened their living room and complimented their contemporary style.

Do you know how simple it is to take an active role in art education for your child? Not only is it simple but it is important. Art education cultivates the imagination, self-expression and creativity, and plays a vital role in the development of critical thinking and problem-solving. With school budget challenges and cutbacks, the arts are the first to go and your kids miss out. But parents can fill the gap by taking a few easy steps to help with art education by simply visiting local galleries and museums.

Kids who are involved in the arts for several hours a day, two-three days a week are 3-4 times more likely to:

- ◆ be recognized for academic achievement
- ◆ be elected to class office within their school
- ◆ participate in math or science fairs
- ◆ win an award for school attendance
- ◆ receive an award for writing an essay or poem.

Don't make the mistake of denying you child the opportunity to learn, enjoy and excel through the arts. Taking your kids to a gallery is fun, free and a great way to spend quality time together. Bring your whole family to Hunter-Wolff Gallery and learn about our resident artists and their work.
